Starting near the Wilpena Pound Resort at the end of Wilpena Road, Ikara-Flinders Ranges National Park, this walk leads to the summit of Mount Ohlssen Bagge via the Pound Gap and Mount Ohlssen Bagge tracks. Embark on a steep rocky climb to the summit of Mount Ohlssen Bagge, with great views of Wilpena Pound and the surrounding valleys. Keep a lookout for fascinating reptiles along the way. The walk begins near the Wilpena Pound Resort, following the main trail a short distance into the Pound Gap, before branching off to begin the climb up Mount Ohlssen Bagge. Keep a close eye out for the orange markers along the trail. This is an easier hike compared to Saint Mary's Peak, but it still presents quite a challenge in terms of elevation. The climb is strenuous and there are few rocky sections, but the view from the summit rewards your efforts. Let us begin by acknowledging the Traditional Custodians of the land on which we travel today, and pay our respects to their Elders past and present.

Getting started: Start from the wooden trailhead signpost with a small desk embedded to it, next to IGA Wilpena General Store just off Hawker-Wilpena Road. Head towards the angled hip-height signpost passing by a metal pole with color-coded track signs on it along the dirt path, moving directly away from the store. Keep right and follow the dirt trail as you pass by the said angled signpost to your left. Cross the paved road using the crosswalk and keep going straight down the dirt track as it tightens after the road. Turn right as the track widens and comes to an intersection, passing by another colour-coded metal pole to your left to continue along Mount Ohlssen Bagge Track.

Turn right.

After another 35 m cross the ford.

After another 25 m turn left.

After another 130 m (at the intersection of Outside Trail & Pound Gap Track) continue straight, to head along Pound Gap Track.
